

HORNIMANMUSEUM

India Recycled

Until Sun 25 Jan 2009

Exhibition supported by

FREE
admission

India Recycled

Until Sun 25 Jan 2009

A photographic journey investigating recycling in India

Photography by Tim Mitchell
Fieldwork by Lucy Norris

This fascinating photographic exhibition follows the journey of clothes donated to UK charity shops as they are recycled and re-sold in the bustling markets of northern

India, as well as the contrasting flow of Indian saris and textiles recycled as western fashion items.

Balcony Gallery

Free admission

India Recycled: A Collaboration Explored

Thurs 27 Nov 7– 8pm

Join exhibition curators anthropologist Lucy Norris and photographer Tim Mitchell, plus photography historian Helen James, as they look at photographs from the India Recycled exhibition.

Music Gallery Performance Space

Free admission

HORNIMAN MUSEUM

100 London Road

Forest Hill London SE23 3PQ

Open daily 10.30am – 5.30pm

www.horniman.ac.uk

By bus 176, 185, 197, 356, P4 (stop outside), 122, 363, P13 (stop nearby)

By train Forest Hill from London Bridge, Victoria, New

Cross, Clapham Junction, Crystal Palace and East Croydon

By car Limited free parking available in surrounding streets

The new Horniman Aquarium is wheelchair friendly.

